FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune. WASHINGTON, Monday, May 23, 1864. THE ARGUELLES CASE.

It is said here, in excuse of the extradition of Arguelles without extradition law, that efforts have been made to obtain sympathy for Arguelles by two persons representing themselves, the one as being his persons representing themselves, the one as being hard is requisite number of men in the Twelfth, Fourteenth, wife and the other as being a Spanish Marquis or span Streeth Wards. The following it the life of the life Baron; that the passengers on the steamer which brought him and his companion to the United States reported that when the women who accompanied him made their appearance at table the rest of the passen-gers complained about it, as it was well known that ne of them is not Arguelles's wife, although she lived with him as such. Moreover, it is said that after this occurrence they did not appear again at meals. Another mitigation of the extradition is that the so-called Marquis or Baron is neither the one nor the other.

A GOLDEN DECISION. to the Fourth Auditor for adjustment:

A GOLDEN DECISION. Judge Wylie of the Circuit Court has just decided that plaintiffs can neither recover profits made on former gold speculation and remaining in hands of defendants nor moneys deposited with them as margin or collateral security under contracts for purchase of gold, that gold speculations have no standing in Court, and that the business of dealing in gold spec tively is contrary to public policy. PUBLIC DEPOSITARIES.

The Second National Bank, Toledo, Ohio, and Central Bank, New-York City, have been designated as depositaries of internal revenues and all public moneys, except duties for Customs.

THE SUPPRESSED PAPER IN BALTIMORE, An effort is being made here to allow The Bullimore Transcript to resume publication, on the precedent of The World and Journal of Commerce.

GEN. WEBB'S CONDITION.

Gen. Alexander Webb, who was wounded in the forehead during the late battles, is lying at the residence of his brother-in-law, Capt. Benton, Commandant of the Arsenai. He suffers a great deal from neuralgia, the nerves being lacerated by the wound.

THE INDEPENDENT TELEGRAPH.

The Secretary of War, after having discharged from prison the operators of the Independent Telegraph Lines, has admitted one of their wires into Office, and given to Mr. Adams and Mr. Speed a certificate, in which he says: "The satisfactory arrangements made by your Company with the Department will. I hope, do much toward inspiring the public with a just confidence in your telegraph line and the loyalty, prudence, and discretion of its management."

THE GERMANS' FESTIVAL DAY .- Pfingst Monteg, a great holiday among the Germans, occurred last Monday week, and was to have been celebrated by the N. Y. Allgemeinen Saengerbund at Jones's Woods, but was postponed until yesterday on account of the when it was observed with unusual demonstrations and ceremonies. The above Society, composed of twelve branch singing societies, celebrates this great German holiday every alternate year in connection with the Turner Society. This year it fell to the Singing Society to celebrate the day with a festival and the whole German population of this city and vicinity congregated at Jones's Woods on the occasion. At ten o'clock the Allgemeinen Saengerbund arrived on the ground, accompanied by the Turner Societies. Mr. Klamke, President of the Singing Society, opened the exercises with a few brief remarks. He said that while the society celebrated the festival it did not forget the many noble heroes who fought and died for their country, and their memory would always be held with reverence and respect among the Germans, and he hoped his countrymen would teach their children to bless and pray for the success of Gen. Grant and his armies. The signification of the Saengerbund he said was not only to give proof of the social feeling among the Germans, but it shall be a school to educate the people to value the privileges and blessings that this country affords them. The so ciety closed their exercises by singing and performing the following pieces, under the direction of Mr. Rucknor: Overture, Freedom's March, by Stung; Warrior's Song, by Otto; Salior's Chorus, from the opera, "Der Fliegende Hollander," by Richard Wagner, performed for the first time in America; overture.

From Mexico and Texas.

Late intelligence from Matamoros represents things as being in a very unsettled state. The bad feeling existing between the native and French residents had ripened to an actual outbreak.

Gen. Cortina and staff, while riding through the streets, were insulted by the French. A general quar-rel ensued. Weapons were drawn and freely used by both parties. Gen. Cortina's Adjutant-General, during the melee, shot one Frenchman dead, and another was arrested, and excented on the next day by Cortina. Much excitement prevailed, and many of the French residents were leaving the city.

All was quiet in the vicinity of Brazos. Judge Hancock, one of the most prominent Union men of Texas, had escaped from Reheldom and arrived at Brownsville, accompanied by about twenty others.

Three hundred wounded men were sent from the McClellan Hospital to-day, to Philadelphia. The weather is as yet very favorable for the patients in hospital, and most of them are doing well. Gen. Wistar has left for home, sick. Gen. Devins is at the Chesapeake Hospital, sick.

Yesterday noon the pickets on our left and near the Point of Rocks on the Appomattox were driven in by the Rebels and quite an engagement acon followed. As soon as the pickets reached our reserve force, two of our batteries opened on the enemy with a deadly fire, and they were so taken by surprise that they lost heavily both in killed and wounded.
